Spring, 1962,

is heralded by the hectic activities of those who enter Interscholastic League competition. We find those who try out for the literary events practicing in vacant classrooms, in odd corners of the auditorium, or on the stage. We have high regard for all those who compete, and we here present only those who placed in any contest.

Girls' Debate: Arlene Jacob and Jane Williams, seniors. First in District.

Boys' Debate: John Mason Atkin and Sterling Eanes, seniors. First in District.

Sterling: "If you don't shut up, I'll have John shut you up!"

Girls' Prose Reading: Linda Reavis and Joyce Langenegger, both sophomores. Linda, 1st in District, 4th in Region. Joyce, 2nd in District.

Linda: "Read faster, Joyce, I want to find out if Peter Rabbit got away from Farmer McGregor!"

Boys' Poetry Interpretation: Bob Giddings, 3rd in District; Brian Adkins, 1st in District. Both are sophomores.

Bob: "I feel fairly well satisfied. How do you feel, Brian?"

An eavesdropping annual staff reporter catches a few candid comments made by the contestants as they practice for the competition.

Girls' Poetry Interpretation: Beverly Gervasi, sophomore, 1st in District. Bev.: "Just a few notes and other items in case we have to stay over night!"

Science: Bob Giddings, sophomore, and Elnora Gibbs, senior. Elnora, 3rd in District; Bob, 1st in District, 2nd in Region.

Elnora: "If I've told you once, I've told you a hundred times; that's not a triangle . . . it's a circle!"

Boys' Prose Reading: Bill Elliott, freshman, 1st in District.

One reason for Bill's success is the feeling with which he reads his lines. Here: "She cut off their tails with the butcher knife! Sniff, sniff!"

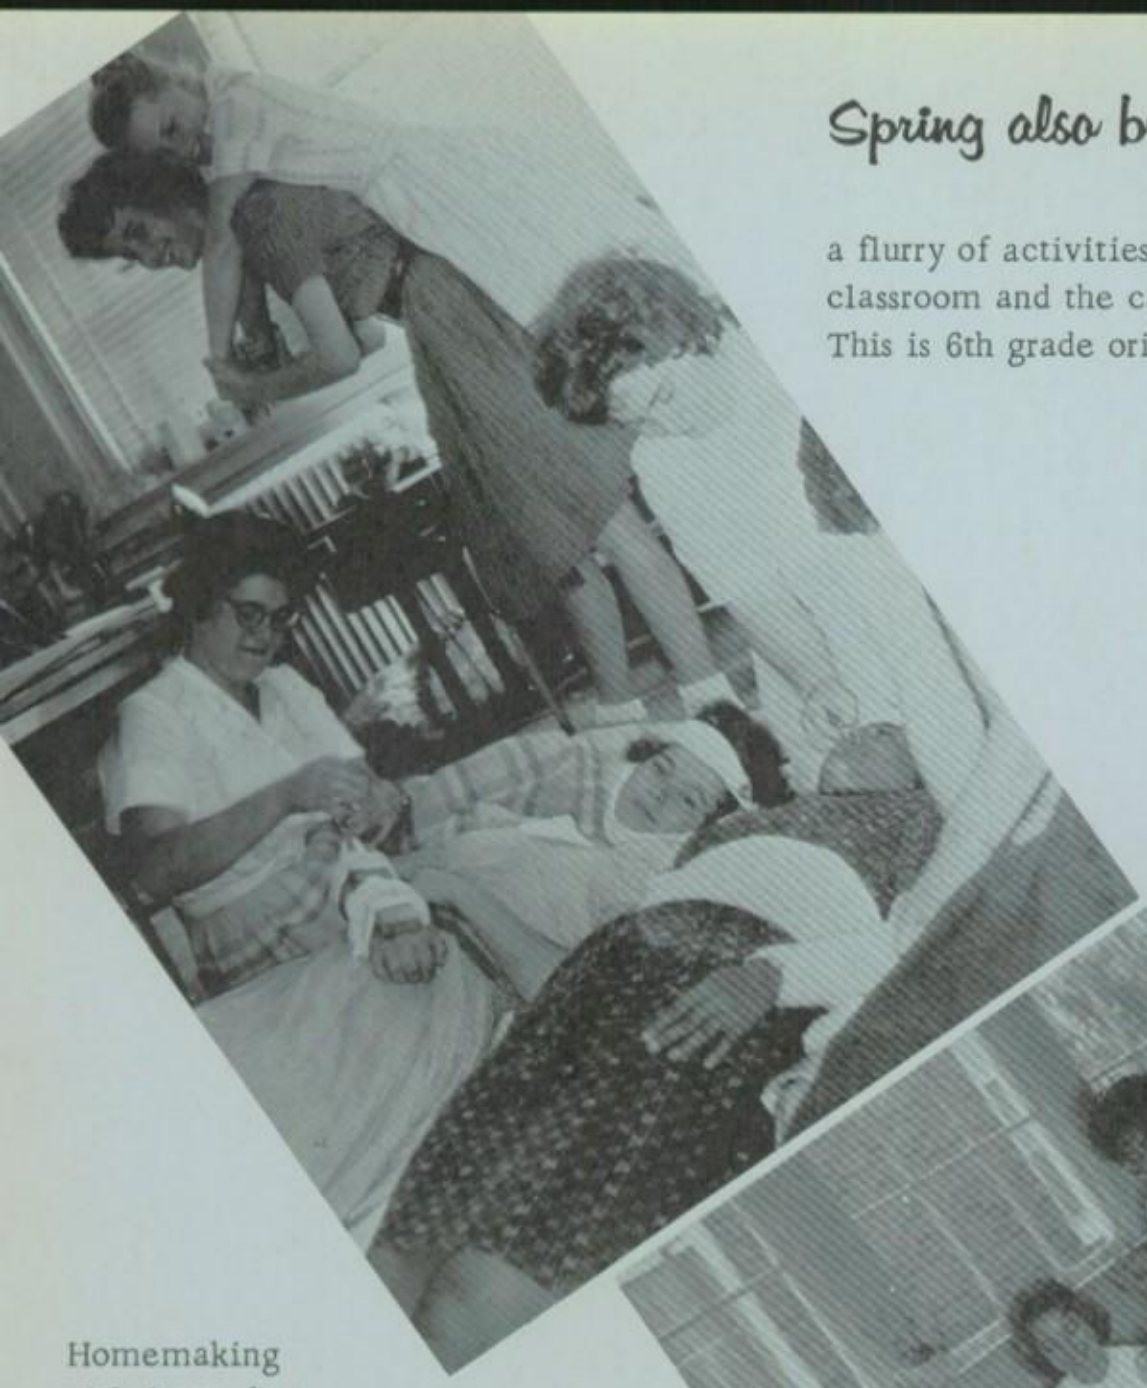
Spring also brings a flurry of activities to the classroom and the campus. This is 6th grade orientation.



Homemaking girls learn first aid and how to make spring flower arrangements.

All the classes had entries in the rodeo parade. The freshman "Fish" took third prize. See right, below.

These smudgy nosed 8th graders are the cast of "The Three Bears," which was done in Spanish.

At the right some students in one of Mr. Wynne's classes (or some strong spirits) tilt the table in a demonstration of mind over matter.

Future Homemakers returning from an Area meet in San Marcos.

The initiation ceremony for new F. H. A. officers (all juniors except one) is well attended by this interested audience.

The F. H. A. float featuring president Arlene won 1st prize at the rodeo parade.

Square Dancing Group.

Tennis competition in the spring of '62 brings outstanding success. All boys won first in District; all girls won second.

In a friendly squabble over the trophy won by Georgetown are John Clifford, singles winner, junior division, Brian Evans and Richard Bost, junior doubles winners in District Interscholastic League play.

Bill Russell and Billie Williams,
junior high
runners-up.

Bob Jones
and Gary Sansom,
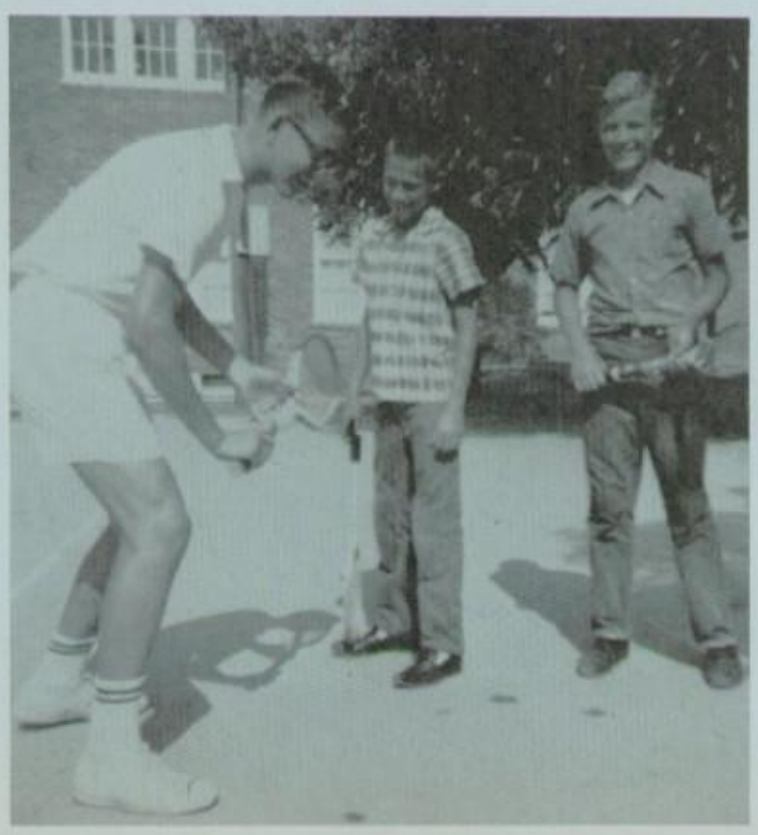
junior high
champs.

Tennis contests in junior high develop future winners!



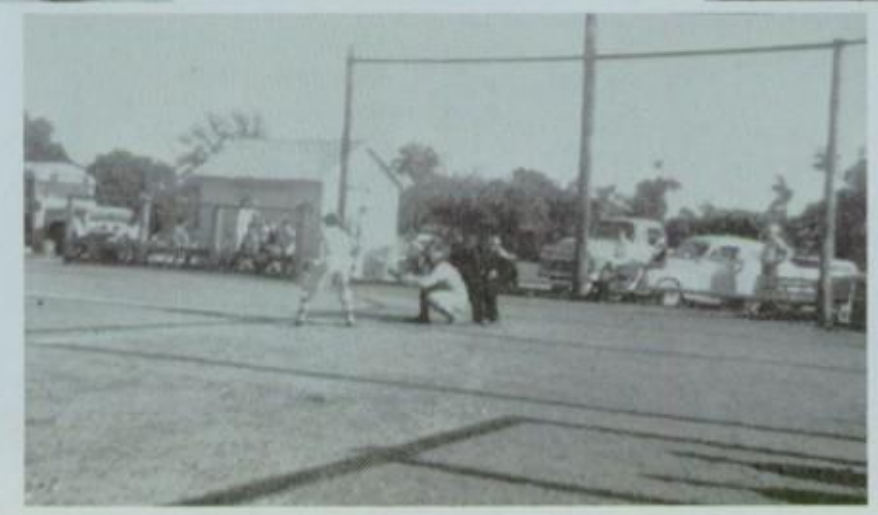
Brian Adkins, who won first in District in the senior boys' tennis singles, here demonstrates a proper grip to young brother David and another tennis hopeful, Danny Doering.

Bill Forest and Charles Forbes, (who did not report for picture) won 1st in District in senior boys' doubles.

Volleyball Teams are winners;

Boys' team ranks first in District play; Girls' team ranks second. In track Mike Wood won 1st in the 100 yard dash; Emil Beckman won 1st in the mile run. Members of the winning volleyball team: Douglas Bell, Richard Stuewe, Rene Sanz, Johnny Hanusch, Delmar Domel, Gene Jacob, Melvin Jacob, Rudolph Schwausch, Richard Hamilton, Charles Nunn, and Fred Homeyer. Coach Paine bears the strain well.

Spectator "Sports" soak up a little sunshine while enjoying a baseball game.



A strike! (We think.)

What makes us have such a superior team? Why, our clean living, clean thinking, clean talking boys!

The Affected Young Ladies, by Moliere, wins first in District.

Les Girvin, Best Actor.

Jeanne Mayo and Becky Switzer, because of their affectation, here scorn the advice of the maid, Jane Williams.

One of the peak moments of the play was the dancing of the minuet, which gave all participants full opportunity to demonstrate their gracefulness, and which brought the audience to laughter. Paul Partain, as the musician, was listed on the All-Star Cast.

District

This period play was difficult for Georgetown students. It demanded the greatest of efforts by the costume department, (mainly Director Springer and various loving mothers) but many students helped.

Gary Carlson and Bill Elliott play the parts of the men of quality who have been snubbed by the foolish girls.

Becky Switzer,
Best Actress.

Play

The Cast found the play difficult, but fun to do. Mrs. Springer met new problems in directing, and the crew, composed of Eileen Adams, Patti McDonald and Joyce Partain, endured many frustrations. However, all members feel that their time was invested in a fine new learning experience.

Brian Adkins and Paul Partain portray resentment at the airs of the fake gentleman, Tom Peaslee. He was also listed on the All-Star Cast.

When we see the stage filled with stylishly dressed girls wearing heels and boys wearing coats, white shirts, and ties, we realize that nominations for student council are about to begin. We listen in astonishment to the speeches which list the virtues of the candidates.

Everyone is nervous as the time comes to begin the campaign speeches. Carolyn Petrosky and Richard Steuwe are doing a last minute check-over to find the best spot for that joke.

Ballots are in! Bud Bredthauer and Linda Scarbrough are the vote-counters in the foreground.

These four newly elected officers are serious because they are helping to choose the ten senators for the Student Council. The senators are chosen from among those who have indicated their willingness to serve by running for office.

At last the election returns are announced. All assembled here tense and eager; Joyce Partain is positively overwhelmed.

Elections

Mike Wood and George Woolsey discuss plans for the campaign speech as opponent Richard Steuwe tunes in for a tip. Sylvia Thorne briefs her campaign manager, Les Girvin.

We elect cheerleaders at the same time we elect the officers for Student Council. The cheerleaders are allowed to yell for themselves, but the others persuade a friend to speak for them. We feel that this procedure results in having speeches that grow yearly more clever.

Six of the eleven girls who tried out for cheerleader. Though only six can win, it is fun for all who try.

Oh, how do I get down?

Kandy and Rebecca, the Kauffman cousins, are hard at work soliciting votes. They must have done their job well. They won!

"I'll vote for you if you vote for me!"

The Junior-Senior

features a Round-the-

Hours of preparation were needed to construct the symbols of different lands.

Judging from the results, a good deal of time and effort went into the preparation of each person's appearance!

Pastries are desirable in any country.

It's an established fact that juniors have even more fun than seniors at the banquet. These smiles indicate not only junior pride in a beautiful banquet, but that "A good time was had by all!"

Banquet

World theme.

Heads bow as Gary Montgomery gives the invocation.

Behind the head table is a huge hemisphere.

Sophomore waiters and waitresses wear the costumes of many lands.

Dancing is fun, be it Hawaii or Paris!

Junior Almazon: "Susan, hold on to these programs this time. I don't want to pick them up any more!" Jeanne Behrens may have dropped as many programs as Susan McCook, but of course calm Richard Steuwe has a firm grip on his programs and on himself. He says that an Honor Usher must at least appear calm.

Mike Wood: "Whew!"

Barbara Hindelang: "So, you finally made it! You'd better not keep me waiting at the church the next time!"

Laura Weir quips to Don Morris: "If we keep smiling long enough maybe they will all go away!"

arrival of Seniors

Baccalaureate is held in the First Methodist Church, just across the street corner from the high school. Honor ushers, selected by the seniors, here wait tensely for the first guests to arrive.

Almost the last time they will line up as a class. "Adams, Aleman, Almazon . . . get back in line, Williams!"

Sponsor Mrs. Medley

Honor Juniors.

George Woolsey: "As much as I hate to assume the position of leadership . . ."

Linda Tonn: "All right, George, I'll lead."

Who would dream that these happy appearing Honor Juniors Brenda Langford and Gary Montgomery are conversing as follows: Gary: "Quick, which is my left foot?" Brenda: "It's the one you are using to step on mine!"

Senior parties and picnics put gala finish on the year.

The class of '62
Were not afraid to try things new.
And believe us, they tried a few!
They are remembered for many fine traits; we also remember them for their gay parties, and their liberal attitude toward collecting materials for their junior-senior banquet.

Kandy and Mildred (junior guests) seem to be enjoying the party, but Douglas finds this kind of fun is hard work.

And another thing the senior class of '62 was famous for . . . F O O D !

Everyone is relaxed but Marion, who is being attacked from the rear.

No wonder we couldn't have much music at the senior picnic. Look! Here's where the records were.

Editors' Message

We hope that you will enjoy your tour of our part of Texas, Georgetown High School. The editors believe that this picture record of the year 1962-63 will be a reminder to you and that you will each take pleasure in looking back, no matter where you go, or how important you become, or how your life may change.

Administration and Counseling

MR. JOE BARNES, Superintendent: B.A., Southwestern; M.A. Texas University.

Mr. Barnes dictates a letter to his secretary Mrs. Stuart

MR. EVERETT WILLIAMS, Principal: A.B., Baylor; M.A., Texas Tech.

Mr. Williams and his secretary Mrs. Jones work on one of the many pressing and important matters that come up each day in a principal's office.

Mrs. Pigg counsels with one of the many students who seek her advice every day about some problem.

Classrooms Look at our students as they attend classes. Many of them will finish their formal education in Georgetown High School; some will go on to colleges and Universities.

MRS. ONEITA MEDLEY

We attended classes many hours a day, so here's a reminder of those hours and minutes. Sophomores get to take physical science, which may seem like hard work, to some, but at least they get to stand up and fiddle with things.

Mrs. Medley teaches two classes in physical science, one in physics, algebra 1 and chemistry. She also co-sponsors the Science and Math Club. Mrs. Medley has her B. A. from Hardin Simmons, and her M. A. from the University of Texas.

i = prt is a kind of a theme song for these 8th grade arithmetic students of Mrs. McClain, who teaches one class of 7th grade math, and three of 8th grade math, and sponsors the year-book. Mrs. McClain is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

MRS. ROSAMOND McCLAIN

Everyone watches a dissection closely, but with varied reactions.

It's all part of the biology course taught by Mrs. Barnes, who has a B. S. from South-western University. She also teaches a class in physical science and is sponsor of Student Council.

MRS. LILLA BARNES

Science and Math

Framed! This scene is from Coach Birk's general math class. Mr. Birkelbach also teaches algebra 1 and is head football coach. He has his B. A. and Master of Education degrees from Southwestern University.

"No fair counting on your fingers in advanced mathematics class," says Tom to Virginia. Mr. Gibbs teaches all the high school math except algebra 1. This is solid geometry class.

Mr. Gibbs holds both B. A. and B. S. degrees from the University of Texas. He is a co-sponsor of the Science and Math Club.

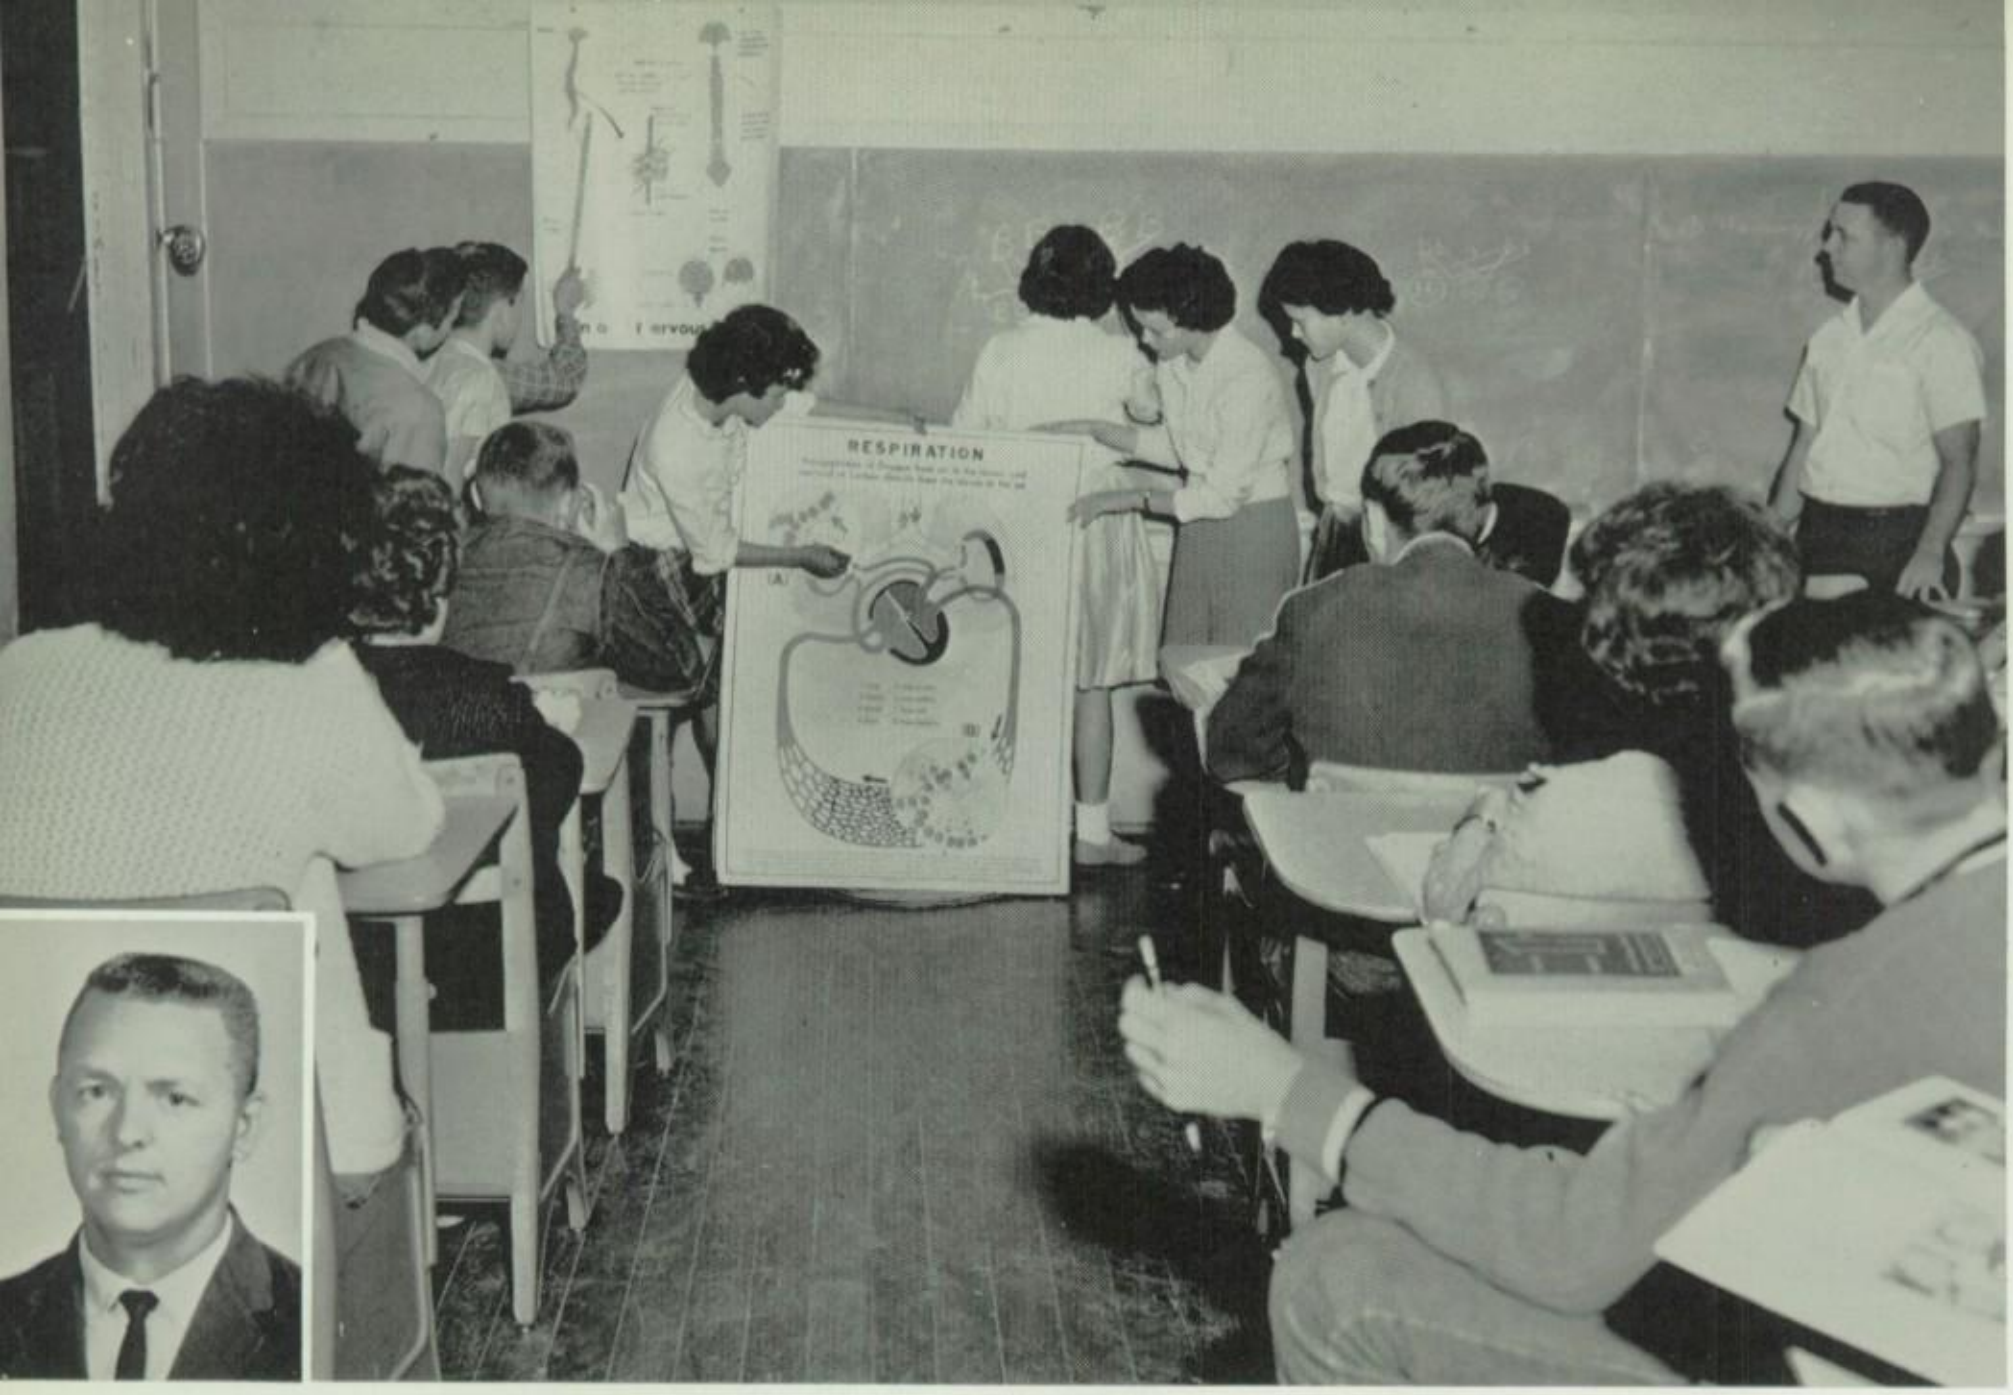
MR. BERNARD BIRKELBACH

MR. SAM GIBBS

Below are scenes from Mr. Kidd's classes in arithmetic. In the first one some eager beavers try to explain a problem while one young lady decides that it's just too hard.

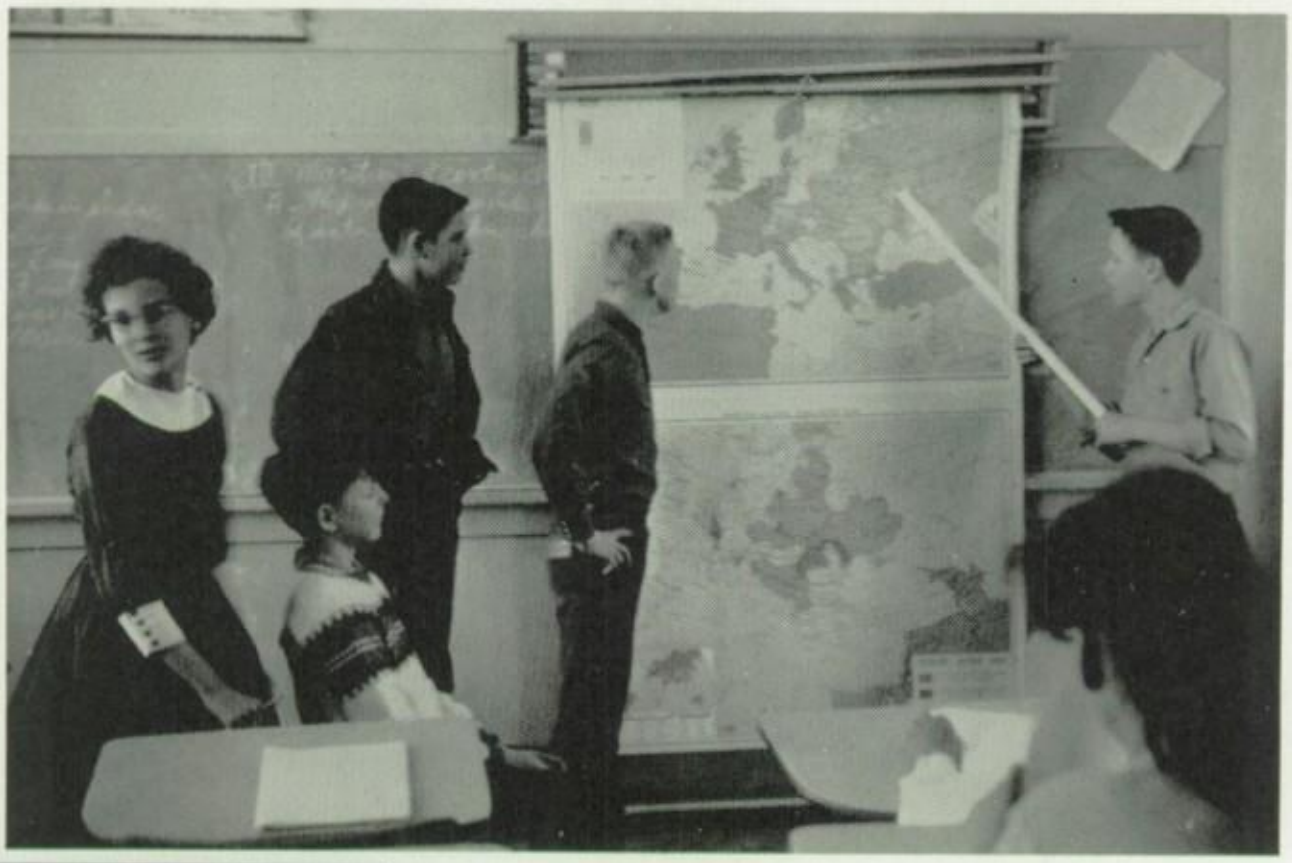
In the next picture everyone's getting help from someone. Mr. Kidd teaches junior high math and algebra 1. He has a B. S. and a Master's degree from Sam Houston State.

MR. GEORGE KIDD

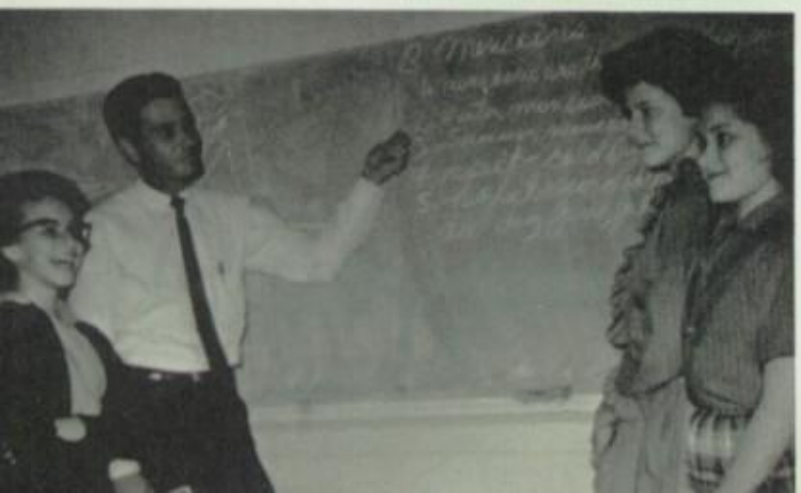


MR. DAVID PAINE

Mr. Payne is a good Science teacher, for the students not only understand the subject, but they can explain it to others. Mr. Payne received his B. S. from Lamar Tech. He also coaches 8th grade football, "B" team Basketball, and high school baseball.



Science



Mr. Rosser has his students demonstrate how the weather currents move, and at left he makes his outline amusing. Mr. Rosser received his B. S. from Texas A&M.

He teaches a heavy load of junior high science.

MR. BILLY ROSSER

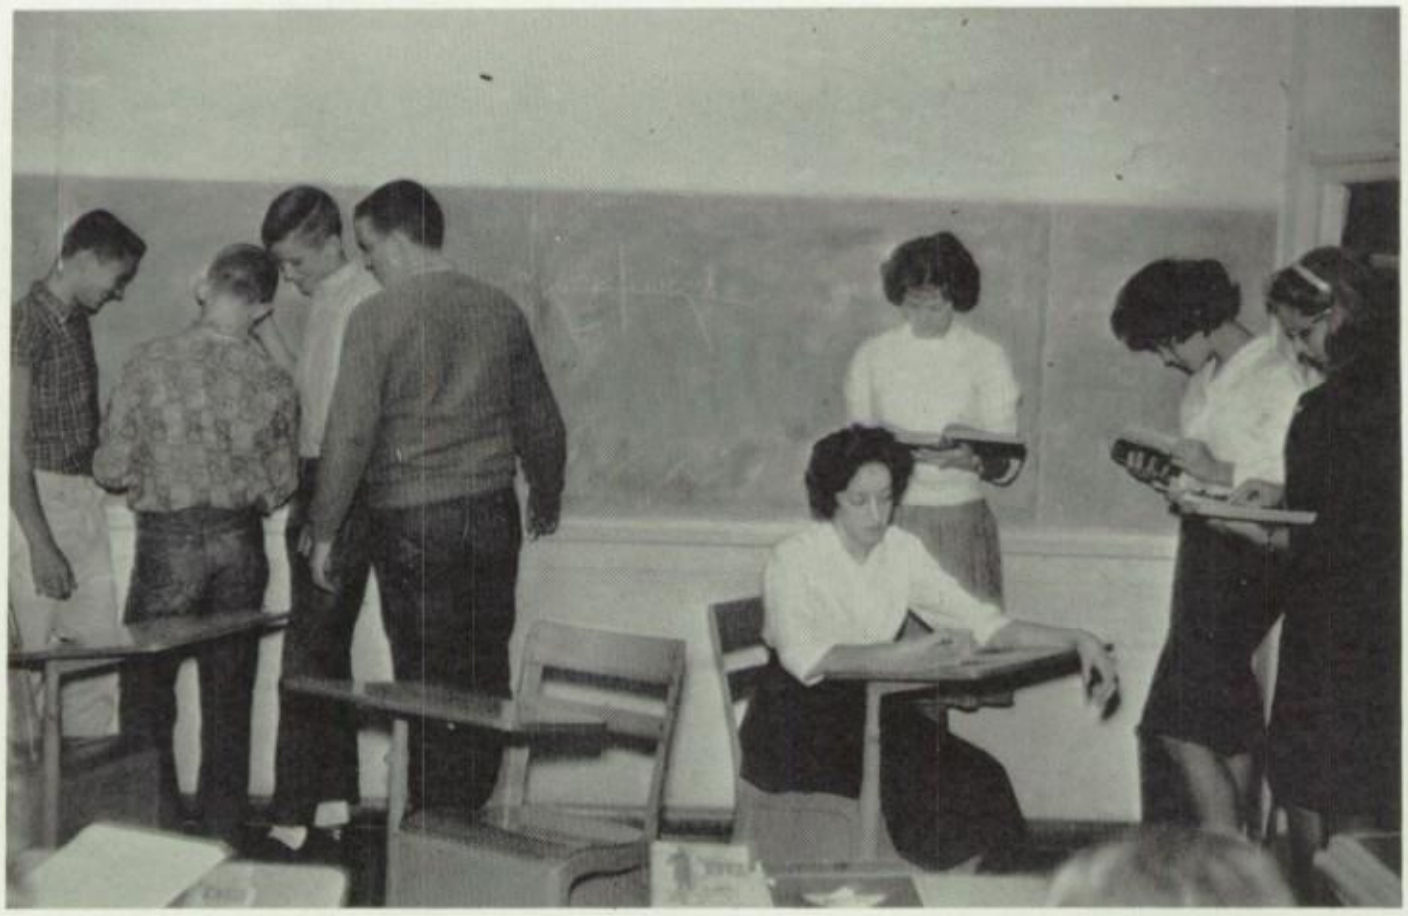
LORRAINE
HINDELANG

Mrs. Hindelang has themes and vivid word use in ads to keep her English classes varied. She received her B. S. at Trinity University. Mrs. Hindelang is Honor Society sponsor.

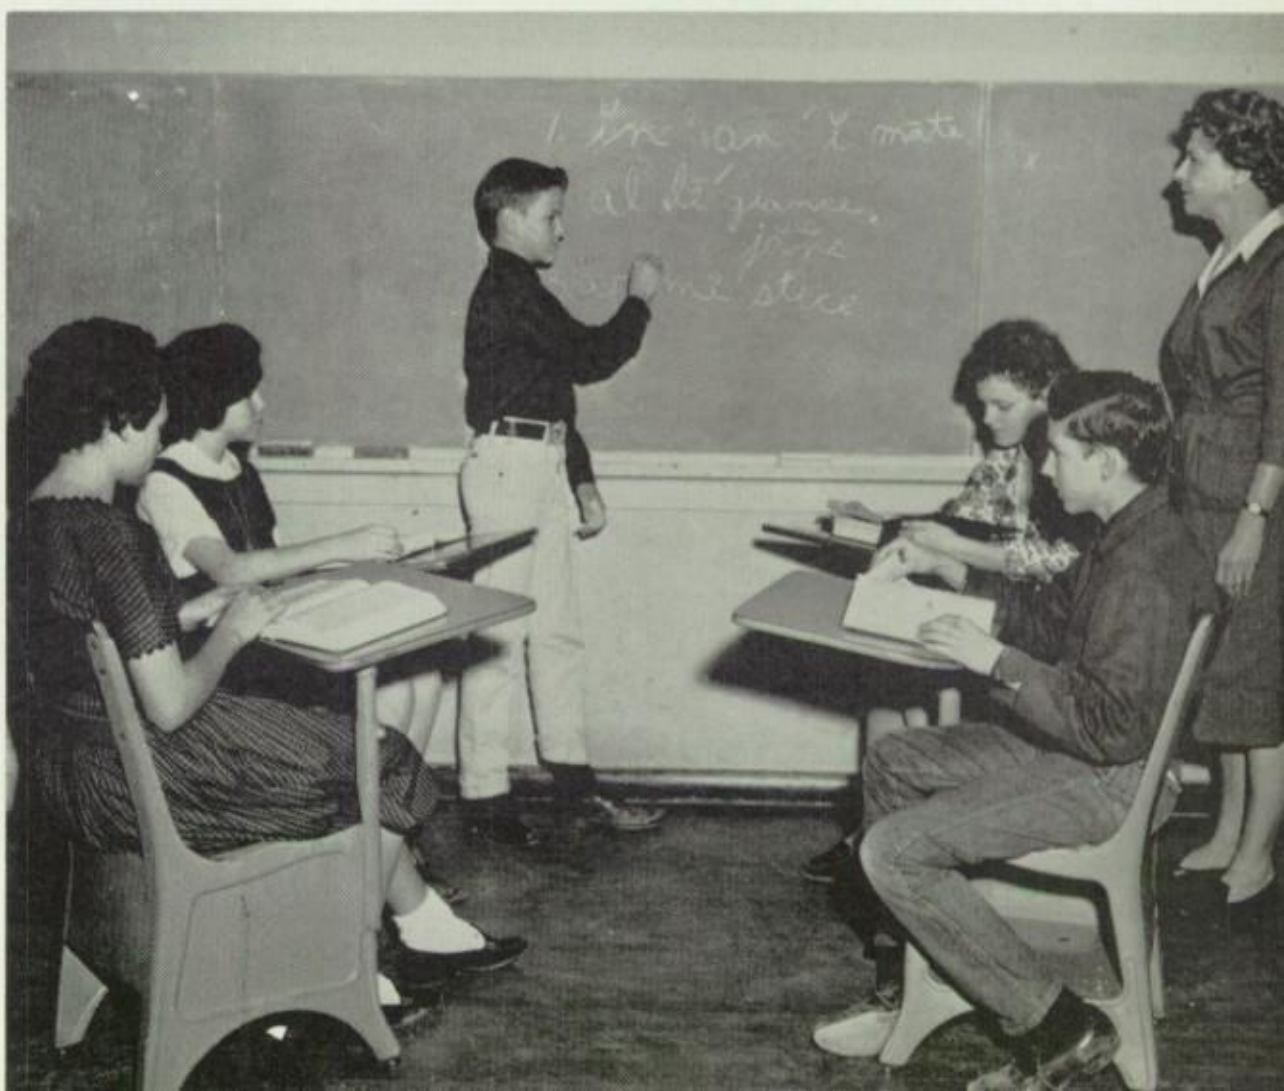
Diagrams may not excite everyone, but Mrs. Armstrong presents them so well that all can find the simple subject, and even its modifiers. She received her B. A. at Southwestern University.

English



Mrs. Sanders, Junior high English teacher, believes that students should know how to separate phrases and use diacritical markings. Mrs. Sanders also received her B. A. at Southwestern University.

MRS. ELIZABETH
SANDERS



English and Speech History and Government

Goodbye, yuall!

Round desk discussion in Mrs. Springer's speech class.

Do you know who could go into an act like the one below on this assignment, "Do something to show your personality"?

Many of our graduates call their speech course an especially valuable one, and judging from these pictures, it's fun as well.

MRS. FRANCES SPRINGER holds the B. A. degree from Baker University. She teaches English IV and speech, directs plays, sponsors the dramatic club, Soc'n'Buskin.

MISS AGNES WILCOX
B. A. Southwestern University, teaches English I and II, and co-sponsors the school paper.

Maybe these particular two students of Miss Wilcox didn't know that they ever quoted Shakespeare, but they are better informed now.

Who did it? Steve did! No, John did!

And so on . . . In spite of their freshman antics, these boys are learning English and grammar.

MR. BOB WILLIAMSON has a B. A. degree from the University of Texas. He teaches American history and government and helps Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Springer, Mrs. Comminatto, Mr. Cairnes and Mr. Stelzer sponsor the junior class.

MR. FRED BELL has degrees of B. S. and M. A. University of Houston, teaches world history, government, p. e., assistant football coach, 8th grade basketball, and track coach.

The line of students are learning history through a question and answer session.

At right, Mr. Bell's boys bounce buoyantly.

Mr. David Scarcella, Bachelor of Music from Southwestern, directs choral work in high school and junior high, and teaches several junior high history courses. Here some of his students learn to use maps.

JAMES CARINES: B. S. Texas A&M, Vocational Agriculture, Sponsor of F. F. A.

These ag boys seem to enjoy their work.

Vocational Agriculture History.

Mr. Fritz Stelzer: B. S. and Master of Education from University of Texas, world history and physical education, "B" team football coach, and head basketball coach.

These Sophomore students wonder what they made on a pop test.

MR. FRITZ STELZER

MRS. FAYE HICKS: B. A., Sam Houston State, Social Studies 8th, Reading, 7th.

Mrs. Hicks' beautiful bulletin board makes Social Studies more realistic.

Part of Mrs. Danelly's course is to teach these Sophomore girls first aid.

MRS. DANELLY: B. S., T. W. U., Denton, Texas, Homemaking; Co-Sponsor of F. H. A.

Homecoming

These Freshman girls are learning to test materials in Homemaking I.

MISS GENEVIEVE MASON: B. S., Mary Hardin Baylor; Homemaking, Co-Sponsor of F. H. A.

Mrs. Mason helps adjust a cranky machine.

Susie Marsh explains to Sandria Dunlap what she is doing. Susie came to our school after midterm.

Physical Education for Girls and Business Subjects

MISS MARY HELEN GILBERT

Miss Gilbert is a graduate of North Texas State with a degree of B. S. She teaches all the girls' physical education.

A lot of interesting things take place in P. E. This event was unrehearsed, unposed, almost unbalanced. The good picture, the one where all the girls posed perfectly, was ruined by a faulty flash, so . . .

Mrs. Gottwald taught business subjects until midterm. Mrs. Gottwald has a B. B. A. from Baylor.

After midterm Mrs. Annie Cominotto, who has B. B. A. and M. B. A. degrees from the University of Texas, came to Georgetown High to teach typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping. She also helps sponsor the school paper, the Eagle.

Learning to erase properly is a real art. No one can say that Janis isn't giving her all to learning!

Spanish

Mrs. Jones, who teaches Spanish and history in the junior high, always has an attractive bulletin board.

Mary Torez, of Spanish 8-1, drew the picture of the lovely Madona on the back board. Other class members arrange the table with a Christmas theme.

Mrs. Jones has a B. A. degree from Sam Houston College, and a M. A. from the University of Texas.

MRS. LILLIAN JONES

Mrs. McCoy teaches high school Spanish, and here is a glimpse of a clever method she uses to practice Spanish conversation. She made each person order his meal in Spanish at the L & M Cafe.

MRS. RAYE McCOY

Mrs. McCoy has a B. A. from Centenary College, and is sponsor of the Pan American Student Forum.

Counseling and Library

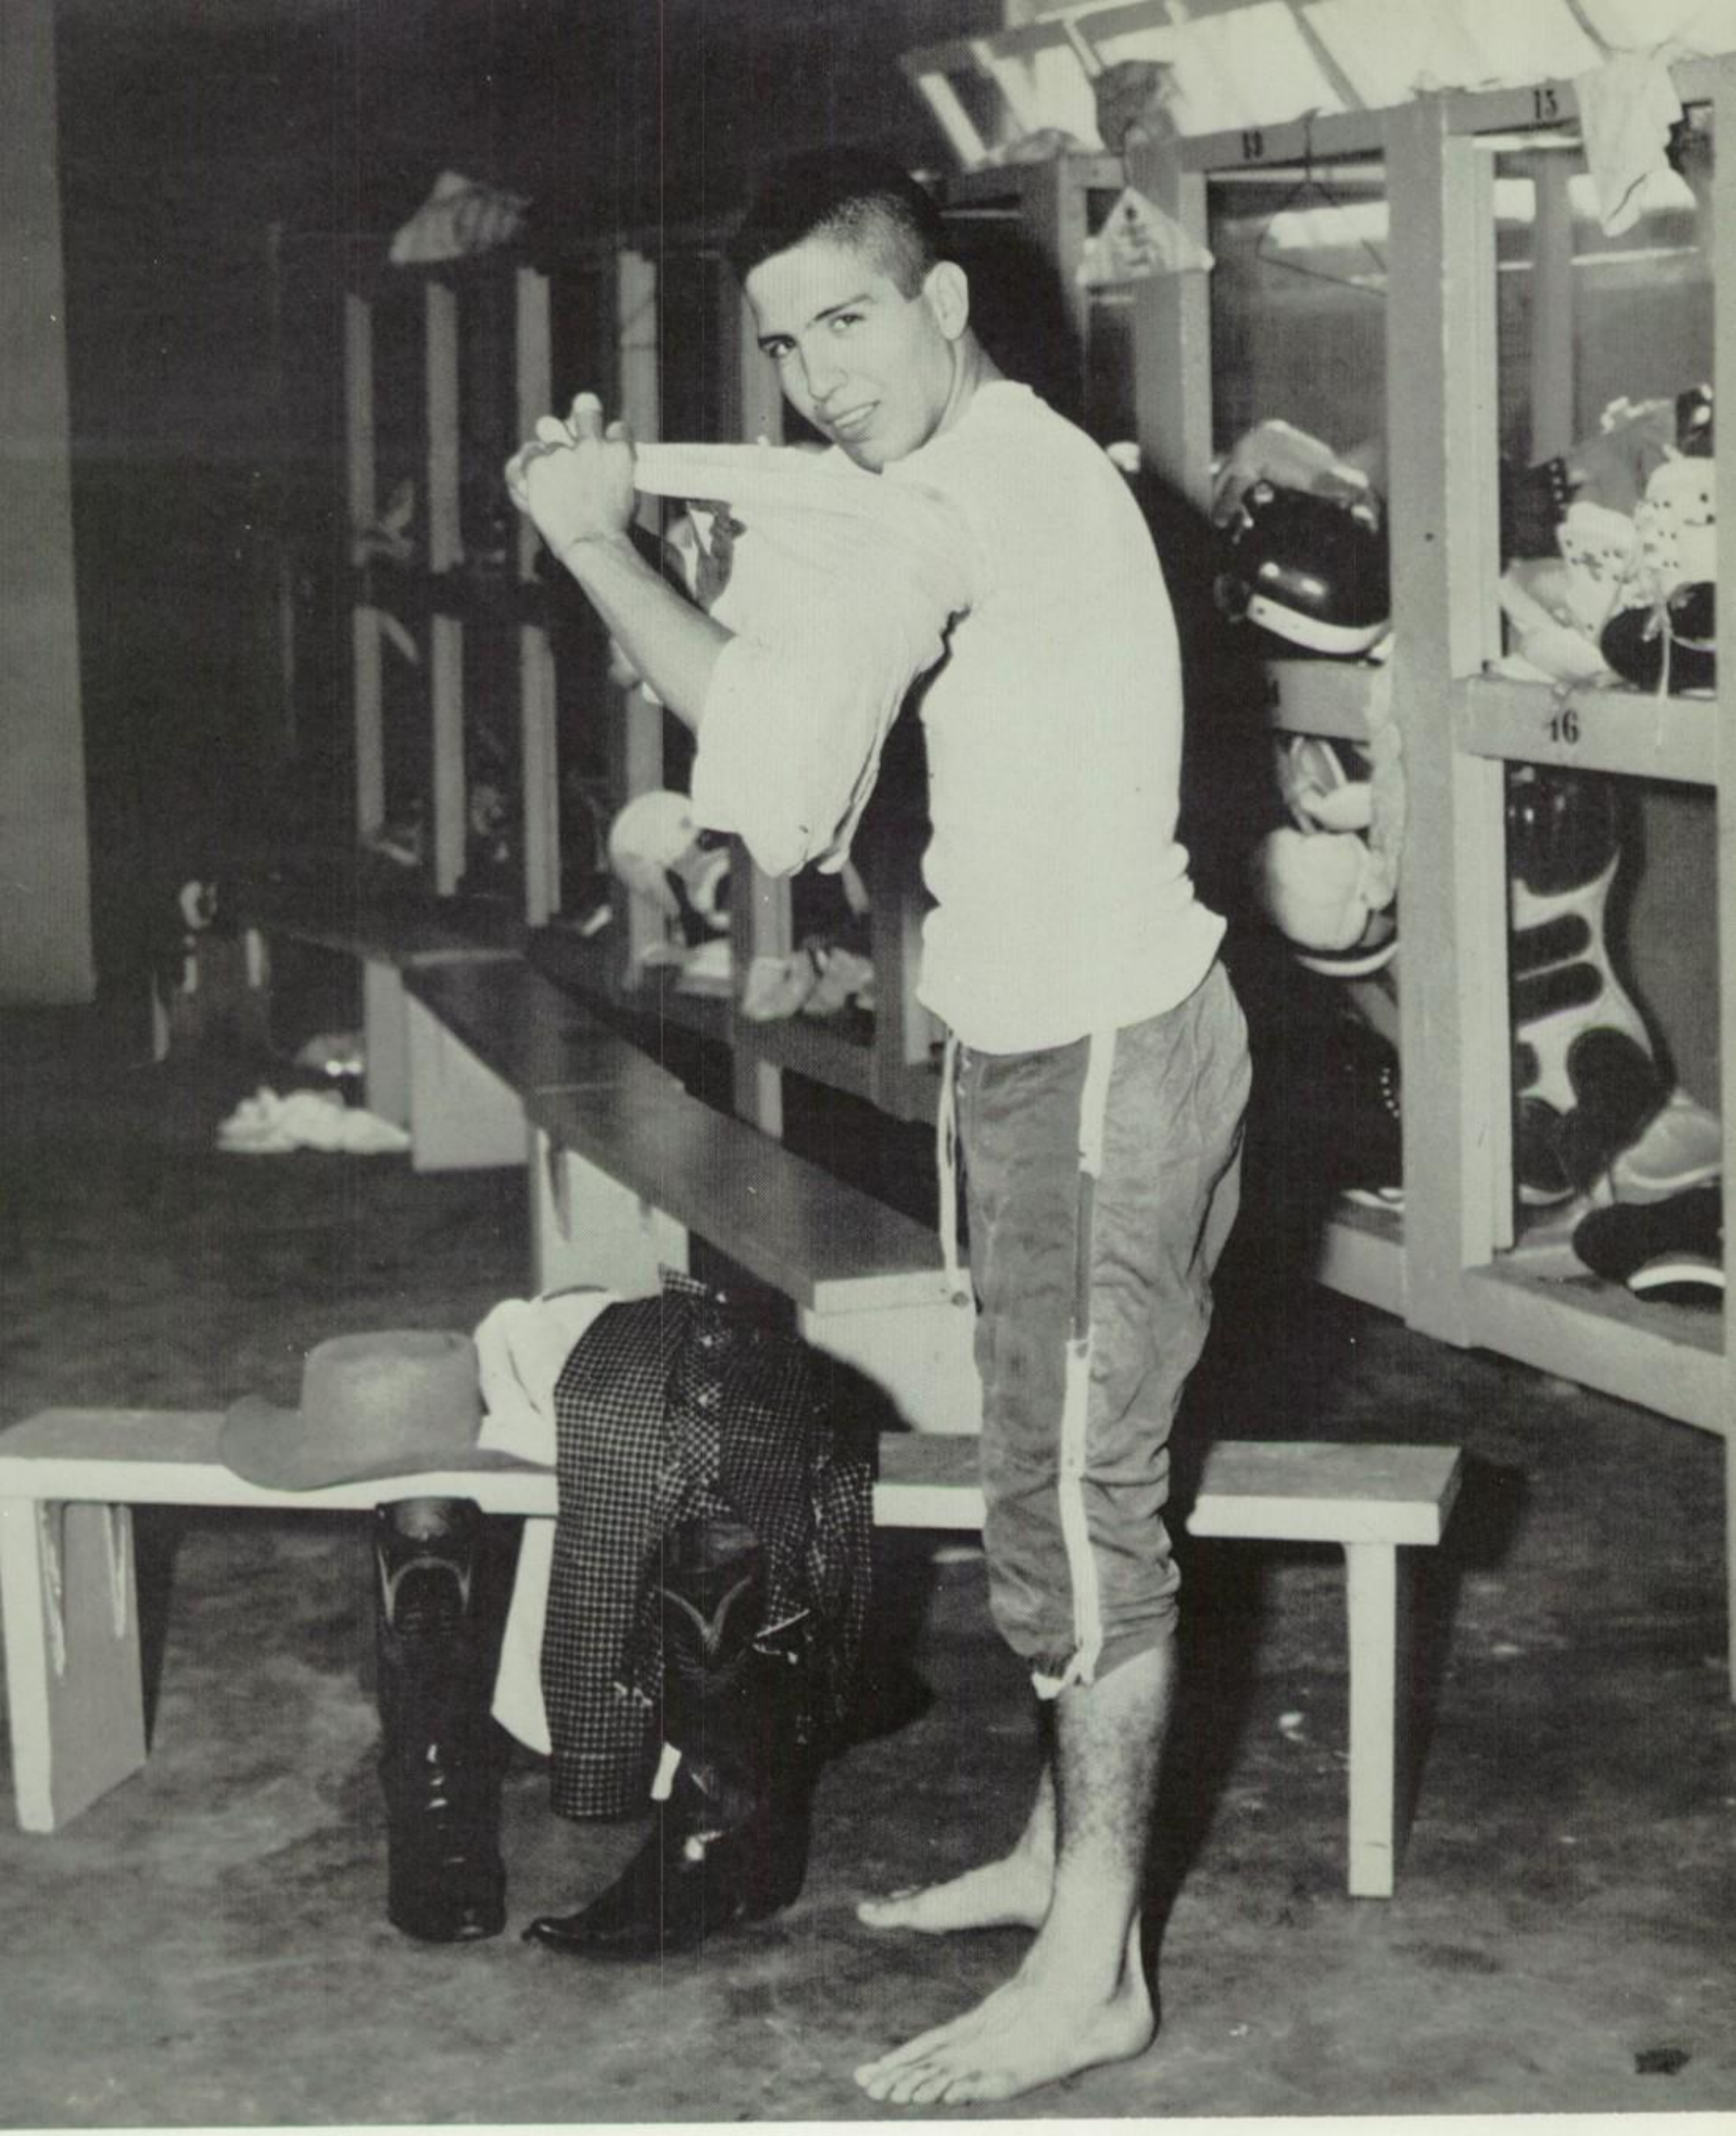
MRS. EVELYN PIGG, who has a B. A. degree from the University of Denver, is working on her M. A. at the University of Texas.

"Help, counselor!" George illustrates the extreme disappointment all students feel when they find Mrs. Pigg gone.

Mrs. Evelyn Maples, who became our librarian soon after school started, is helping to organize our library and is very gracious in helping all students. Mrs. Maples has a B. S. degree and a M. A. degree in library science from East Texas State. Also, she holds a professional certificate.

Mrs. Emory Carlson is very good at her job of keeping order in the study hall and is liked in spite of the corrections she must administer. Here her smile peeps through, although she has just ordered these boys to get to work.

MRS. RUTH CARLSON

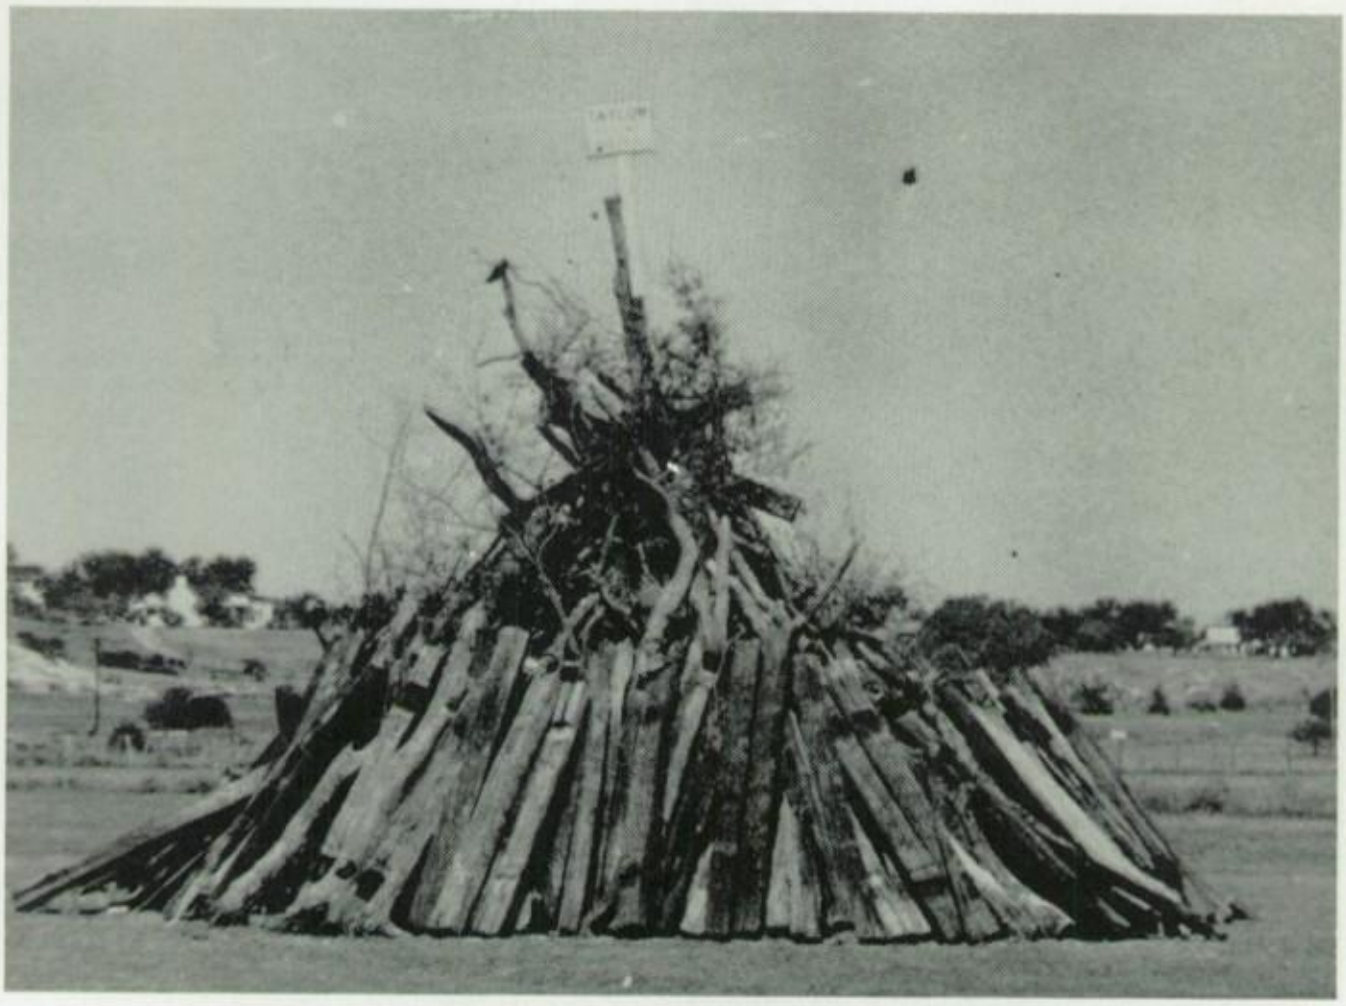


Athletics

Look at our athletes, who represent our school in all sports, and who, by their participation, have an opportunity to develop in physical strength and in good sportsmanship as well.

For our big pre-Taylor rally many people were sweet enough to contribute (sometimes voluntarily) wood for our fire!

Hundreds of fans enthusiastically cheered as the flames leaped high.



And Taylor was so awfully sweet to lend us their city limits sign!

"Will we win it? 'll, er, Hello, Mr. Williams, . . heh, heh!"

This was a thrilling sight.

"Quick, smile! It might be the sheriff!"

Pep rallies enliven Fridays all during the football season, building spirit and tension with booming drums and loud music, soaring cheerleaders, prancing majorettes, roaring voices, encouraging speeches, and amusing antics.

Here the teachers are indulging in surgery to restore a Georgetown player to wonderful working order.

"Oh, I've got a jacket, a jacket, a jacket!"

"Say, this is fun! We may give up teaching and start operations of some other kind."

Our pretty, peppy cheerleaders in their new striped skirts perform at a pep rally.

Below appear some of the members of the Women's League for Better Dressing in Schools. (Really, F.H.A. initiates in skit)

The last Football Banquet for these seniors brought some sad thoughts to mind, but also brought happy smiles as they realized how much fun they were having.

Eagle Booster Mothers prepared the delicious food and decorated the tables. Our speaker for the evening was the genial Mr. M. L. Williams, and we were shown the films of last year's conference games.

"Well, coach, it's one of the new exercises we thought up. It builds the leg muscles, and the a . . . well, it builds most any muscles."

"How appetizing! Roast football! Here coaches Stelzer and Birklebach and their wives anticipate a delicious meal.

Below, Mr. Gilbert Conoley, Master of Ceremonies, introduces the speaker.

The way some of the boys ate it made us wonder if they went out for football or for the banquet. Of course all the girls had dainty appetites, we think.

"B" Team Basketball

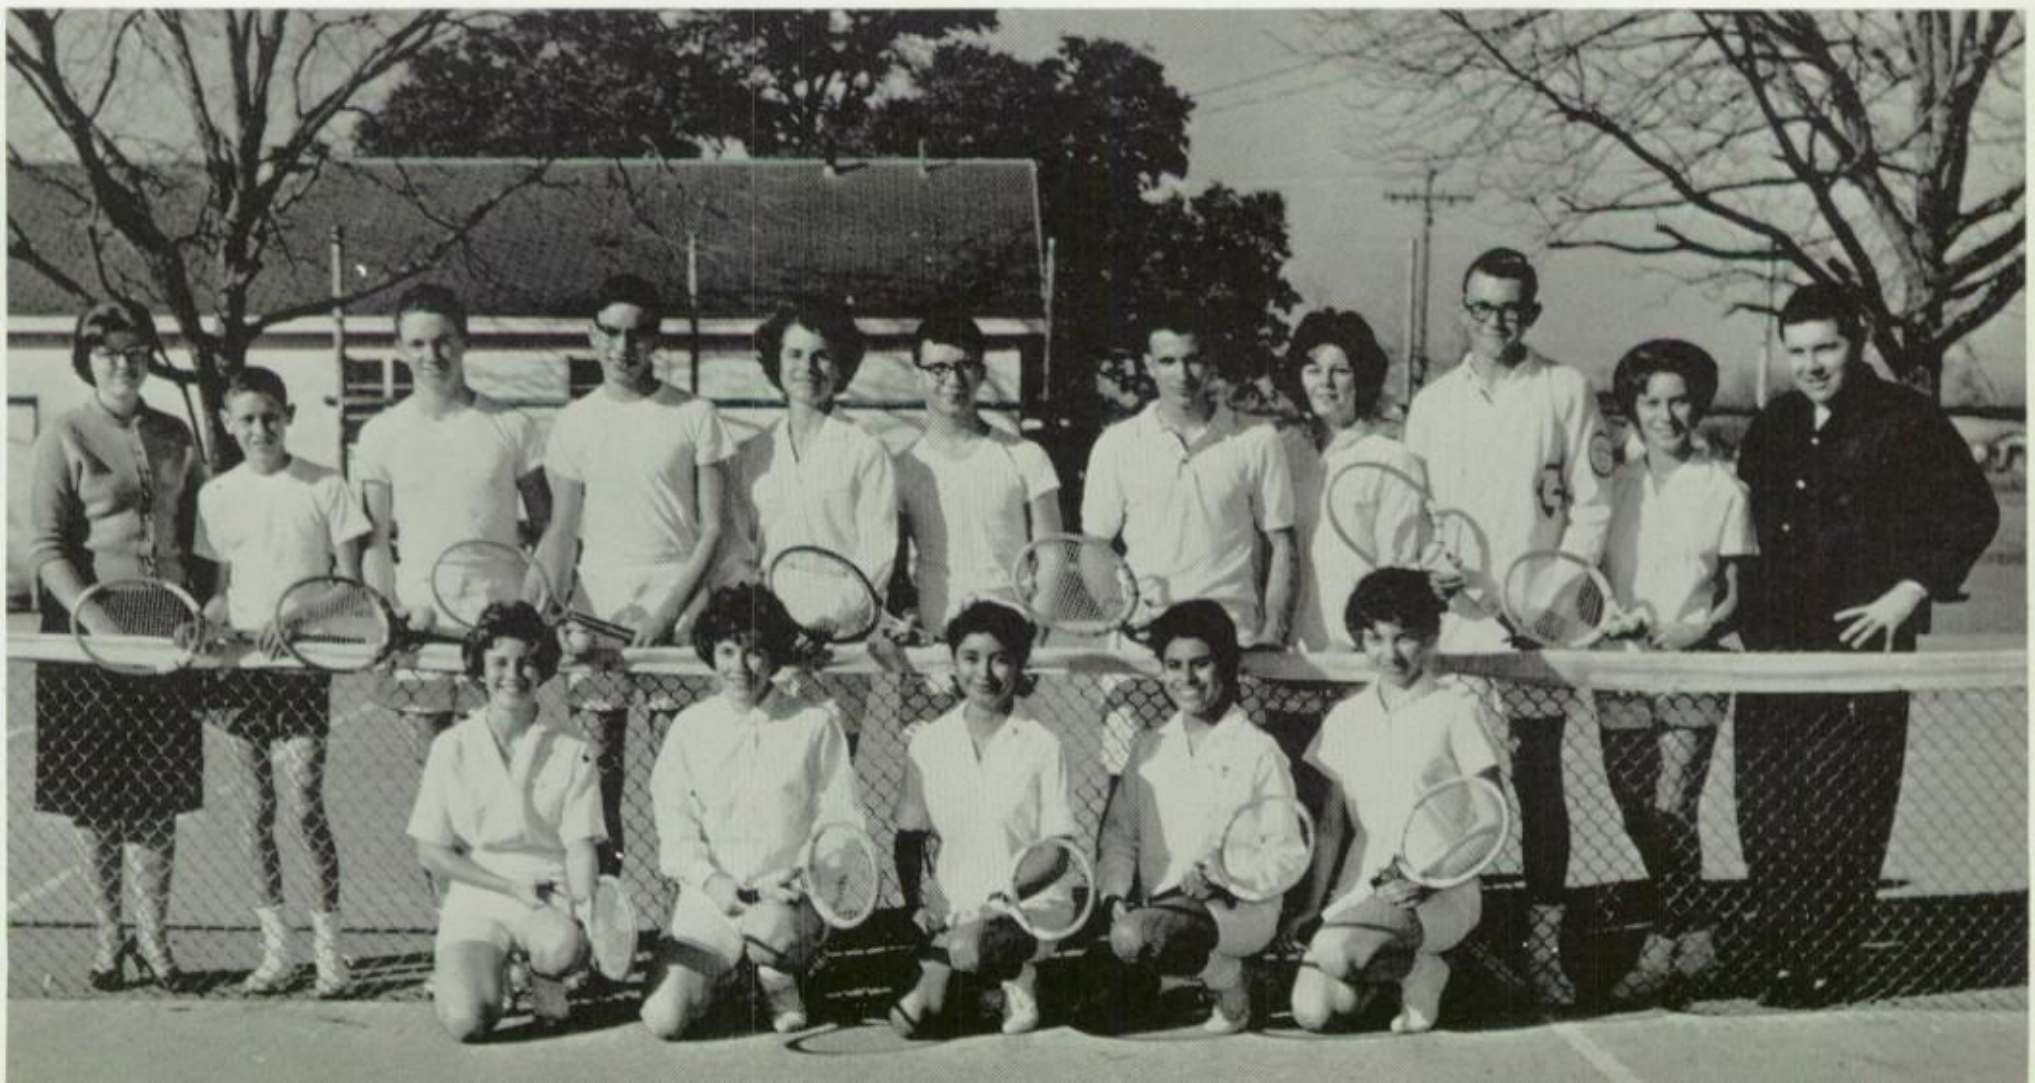
Junior girls' division: Margo Green, singles; Charlotte Lawhon and Robin Giddings, doubles.

Junior boys' division: Danny Doering and Richard Bost, doubles.

The whole gang with sponsors Miss Gilbert and Mr. Williamson.



Officers of the Tennis Club: Brian Adkins, Pres.; Brian Evans, Vice-Pres.; Betty Barnes, Sec.; Ricky Bost, Treas,, and John Clifford, Reporter, listen closely to the admonitions of helpful sponsors Miss Gilbert and Mr. Williamson.

Judging from this picture the advice of sponsors could be unneeded, longwinded, or confusing. Brian seems skeptical as he says, "You mean that if I have a 'love' score I win??"

In poses demonstrating good sportsmanship are the members of the Senior Boys' Doubles, Brian Adkins, John Clifford, Brian Evans and Chuck Forbes.

Girls' Physical Education program continues to improve under the direction of Miss Gilbert.

Miss Gilbert believes that the girls should all follow the President's physical fitness plan.

"A diamond is a girl's best friend" - and using this kind of diamond gives a girl trim lines.

These runners seem to be in fine physical condition, but they are just starting. Those below in the heap are girls who did it for real.

nominated four very deserving boys and girls from the senior class.

Candidates for Mr. and Miss G.H.S.

Although one couple only wins the title of Mr. and Miss Georgetown High School, the honor of being nominated is equal for all. It means that the faculty members find each candidate worthy in every way. These candidates are Richard Stuewe, Barbara Hindelang, Mike Woods, Jeanne Behrens, Gary Montgomery, and Susan McCook.

Students at Midterm

Look at our "A" students. Of course there are many others, some of whom missed having all "A's" by only one point. However, at this particular time, these were the persons with no grade lower than 90.

Since you are being invited to look at our athletes, those who belong to organizations, those who are popular, or talented, or deserving for one reason or another, please consider our good students, most of whom you will find well represented in other sections. Since school is for learning, these students are to be commended for their ability to put first things first.

Look at the members and officers of our organizations as they participate in the many activities of the school program. They are enriching their lives by developing their talents and by contributing to the pleasure of other students.

Student Council '62-'63 sponsored a beautification program which included decorating classroom doors for Christmas. Student Council Officers are, Pam Penniman, Parl.; Rebecca Kauffman, First V.P.; Jeanne Behrens, Secretary; Richard Stewe, President; Johnnie Hutte, Third V.P.; Melvin Jacobs, Treas.; Clifford Langford, Second V.P.

Officers are standing by the prize winning door, that of Mrs. Hindelang's Homeroom.

Second Prize door, Mrs. Jones' Homeroom 8^2

Third Prize door, Mr. Armstrong's Homeroom 8^1

Secretary, Jeanne Behrens, reads the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. Barnes tells George Woolsey about the Central Texas Student Council Association meeting in Waco.

The officers of the Junior High Student Council are: President, Woody Baker, Vice-President, Debbie Carlson, Secretary Sharon Lawhon, Treasurer Claudia True, Reporter Kathy Lott, Parliamentarian Jenny Williams.

One of the projects of the senior high group was to help the junior high organize their Council.

The Junior High Representatives plan a project to be carried out during the year. Back: Brian Adkins, Spencer Karr, Randy Edgar (alternate for Raleigh Ochoa), Glenda Pope; Front, Mike Wolf, Marsha Carlson, Gary Pickett, Betty Klepac.

This smiling group of Student Council Senators are responsible persons who play a very important part in the work of the Student Council.

The Slave Sale sponsored yearly by the Student Council, is still a sure fire money-maker. There's a fundamental appeal to human nature in the opportunity to boss your elders and your supposed betters.

And everyone thought he was silly to buy a slave!

Trisha Brown smiles while hard at work begging money so she could buy Mike Wood. Was it worth it, Trisha?

Our poor (look at Marty's costume) underfed students pause for a snack.

There is a nasty rumor that some of the students just collected money without ever attempting to buy a slave.

Would you believe that this couple was offered a contract by the Arthur Murray Dance Studios? You wouldn't? Well, neither do we.

"A Tisket, a tasket, keep your eyes on the basket," gloats Rebecca as she watches the basket fill with money.

Drop one of those and I'll . .

Billy Davis stoically awaits the end of bidding while junior high students beg the men teachers for money so they can raise their bid.

A tense moment as the bidding for a desirable slave goes too high for these 8th graders.

Comes the pay-off. Mary Montgomery and Eileen Custer deliver the cash at the collection table.

REVENGE!!
At right, Tom Peaslee, notorious slave driver of past years, now learns what it means to have many masters, all of them unkind.

Patty cake, Patty cake!

Soc 'N' Buskin Presents Our Town

was presented in America last year by 895 different groups, proving its great popularity. It is a play that speaks to the heart, for it is about everybody's town.

Part of the charm of this play is the imagined scenery. These ladders are upper rooms with Sally McAferty as Bill's little sister, and Gary Carlson as Becky's father.

The play was produced by Mrs. Springer, who has a real genius for casting and directing.

Clifford Langford in action as the drunken choir director, Simon Stimson.

Beverley Gervasi as Mrs. Webb.

Richard Oliveri as Professor Willard gives some statistics on our town to stage manager, Lee Litzler.

Lee performs Becky's (Emily Webb) and Bill's (George Gibbs) wedding ceremony while the cast of Our Town watches.

Gary Montgomery has the last word in this scene.

Jeanni Mayo as Mrs. Gibbs.

Constable Paul Partain (Constable Warren) pauses for a word with Johnny Gamble and Mike Salyer.

Bill Elliott and Gary Montgomery survey Grover's Corner cemetery.

The Sophomore Soc'n 'Buskin members pose in character for "Make Room for Rodney," an assembly play. Since they had no costumes, they just "thought" the part.

Barbara Hindelang, Bill Forest and Jeanne Behrens will do a great deal of work to help produce "Aria Da Capo" by Edna St. Vincent Millay as our school's entry in the Interscholastic League Contest.

Pull down the table cloth and hide the bodies! Becky Switzer as Columbine is asked by Lee Litzler as Pierrot, "How would you like to be an actress? I'll teach you how to cry, and how to die. The house will love you."

The Georgetown High School Band

is an important part of our school life, not only during football season, but later, for concerts.

BAND WINNERS

Special People give that something extra to the BAND!

Gary's glad that you are the new Student Conductor, Peggy, since this gives him some relief, but, really, isn't there room for him up there? Peggy Green, newly elected Student Conductor takes over for senior Student Conductor, Gary Montgomery.

Below a formidable array of section leaders includes Tommy Peaslee, tenor sax; Peggy Green, alto sax; Donny Nobles, oboe; Barbara Hindelang, flute (protem) (reg. Jeanni Mayo); June Chance, clarinet; Barbara Smith, alto clarinet; Bill Burney, baritone; Randy Ihms, drums; Bill Forest, bass; John Clifford, trumpet; Brian Evans, cornet; Sally McAferty, string bass; Gary Montgomery, trombone.

Barbara Smith and Lana Whitehead have the honor of winning, through try-outs, places in the seventh annual all-girl band festival at Texas Woman's University.

These are the brass boys, who, given a chance, really jive it up. They call themselves The Brass Sextet.

Before and After: As you can see, the before part was larger than the after part, but we enjoyed both the working on the '63 Aerie and the satisfaction of sending it off as a job well done.

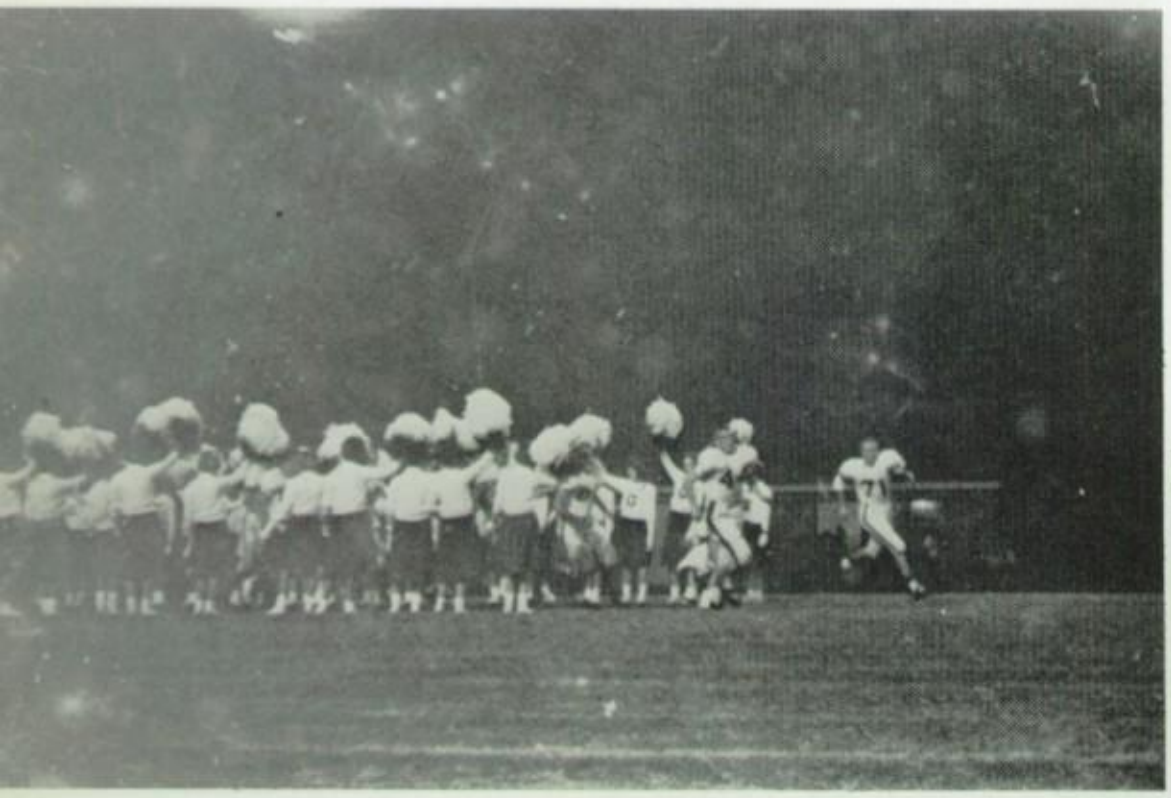
The Blue Wings

This happy group of Blue Wings work to support our team each year.



Here the football boys run through the lines of cheering Blue Wings.

These three Blue Wings missed the first picture, so they are pictured here, true blue in heart though not in uniform.

Activities Look at our students as they attend parties, make money for their class, develop special projects, or just have fun.

Remember when?

The construction crew down the street kept the air filled with rumbling and noise?

The class of 1953 had their reunion?

The boys spent part of their noon hour resting up?

The Juniors had to take a battery of tests?

The Rodney Johnsons, the Douglas Beamans, Coys (D. Foust), Don Barber, A. G. Finnies, Dale Thornton, Faughts (Sadie Lackey) all had snacks in the home-making room after the ball game? It was the reunion of class of 53.

Judy chased the boys all during the noon hour?

Mark Wolf had a broken arm and a bumped head and a hurt eye?

The Band Party is the occasion for the presenting of an appreciation gift. Here Band President, Gary Montgomery, gives Mr. Jackson, Director, a gift certificate from band members.

Everyone jiggles the record player, and judging from the number of people shown dancing below, the jiggling was at least moderately successful.

Faculty Look at the teachers of Georgetown High School. Among them are many dedicated, hardworking, understanding persons. Some are strong teachers who know their subjects thoroughly, and who keep up with new developments. Some are talented, some are clever, some dramatic . . . All of them are investing their lives in us.

Faculty

The smiles on the faces of these teachers only goes to show you that they really enjoy teaching us, and being with us each day.

McKEITHEN GARAGE

Barbara and Woodrow Smith are watching a repair job at McKeithans. They know that their father, also looking on, is one of a crew of expert mechanics who can fix almost anything, so they know the results will be fine.
Try McKeithans for repairs.

"MMMM," Says Mark, who loves that good chocolate milk flavor. So do the others, and so do all the students at Georgetown High School, where we serve PURE MILK both natural and chocolate, with school lunches.

PEPSI-COLA

Join the Annual Staff, students. . .we have Pepsi breaks! There's a lot of sparkling fresh drink for your money, but it's not too sweet. It's MILD, but it's ZIPPY, and after a Pepsi, we find working a pleasure.

It's Pepsi for those who think young!

TUG OF WAR - Butter Krust is so good that neither Jimmy or Mildred will give in. With a whole loaf of Butter Krust in their hands, it seems that they could settle their dispute.

"The best way to get good Butter Krust Bread is from the local bread salesman's daughter!" says Jimmy.

"Yes sir, Just think of all that good bread I have at home in my dad's truck," replies Mildred.

"Some people just luck out," answers Jimmy.

Be sure and pick up Butter Krust the next time you pass by the bread counter in the store.

Thank you very much, Bill Hill

Senior breakfast in February is the beginning of the social season for seniors. (here all girls)

It is probably never as hard or as important to be prominent as it is during your senior year. Characters at the right have it made!

These prominent seniors enjoy rehearsing for the Melodrama which they put on for the junior carnival.

Now listen to me,
classmates,
Look lively, but don't stare;

Avoid all the bad lines,
Never be a square!

Always hold your chin up,

Look the world right in the eye,

Study all you need to,
And don't keep asking
why!
Take your fun where you can find it;
A laugh will light your way.

And be thankful for the many friends
Who work for you each day.
Sometimes it's bread and meat you need,
And sometimes punch and cake,
In either case be grateful, man,
Learn to give as well as take.

And try to be most generous
With those who earn your praise;

Royally you'll live your life,
The King of all your days.
(Queen)

We have "A" averages for four years of high school. This qualifies us as being smart enough to realize the value of trading with our own merchants here in Georgetown! Use
